

ONE TOWN. ONE PRODUCT

2 0 2 3 C A T A L O G

INTRODUCTION

Shifting mindsets, igniting new ideas, connecting entrepreneurs, and transforming the way Filipino products are made in Region 7 – One Town One Product (OTOP) Program is one of the priority programs of the Department of Trade and Industry that offers continuous growth to Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs).

The OTOP Program opens opportunities for local MSMEs to increase competitiveness in the national and global markets by showcasing innovative products that are rooted in culture through the use of indigenous raw materials and local craftsmanship that represent the various flavors of each region.

With an online campaign, DTI-7 has become the forefront in empowering MSMEs as a means to help our economy recover and stabilize. The extension of our efforts through the creation of an OTOP eCatalog will help maximize and expand the reach of the OTOpreneurs as they promote their products in various digital platforms. This yearly OTOP eCatalog showcases OTOP-assisted MSMEs that are recipients of the DTI-7 product and packaging development assistance, as well as food development program assistance, and others. The OTOP eCatalog serves as a product catalog, at the same time a business directory of curated MSMEs in the region. The OTOP eCatalog boasts a wide array of Region 7 products inclusive of processed food, processed fruits and nuts, cacao, coffee, coconut-based, bamboo, and wearables and homestyles industry clusters.

ARGAO GUILANG TABLEYA MANUFACTURING

In 1948, matriarch Miguela Guilang and husband, Ingko Pedong Lanutan, started their tablea business. Miguela herself even crafted the business’ unique finger-drop molding technique, setting itself apart from its competitors. Now, the business is able to produce at approximately 12 tons of tablea monthly and has employed over 26 workers. With Miguela’s passing at the age of 95, Edgar wishes nothing but to retain her mother’s legacy and bring the flavor of Guilang’s Tableya to every household.

AUDREY'S CONFECTIONERIES

Audrey Regis has always had an entrepreneurial mind set ever since she was young. She used to sell sweets to her classmates to help ease the fees while sustaining her daily allowance in school. At the age of 40, she wanted to have more time for her son hence the beginning of her business.

She started a commercial enterprise with Cebu's most famous delicacy: dried mangoes. The abundance of competitors led her to jazz up her products by creating a salted caramel flavor which was unusual during that time. This was her unique selling proposition that led her to branch out in multiple areas from airports to malls across Cebu.

BAKERLANE BAKERY

In 2011, Lord Alexander Dela Rama discovered his interest in baking. When he rebranded his business, he sought opportunity by widening his market through different means. Under the assistance of DTI, he was able to learn from different mentorship programs and develop the business simultaneously.

Currently, Bakerlane Bakery is able to produce three times its usual production per day. Dela Rama also has about 10 workers in his bakery. The business' income also multiplied tenfold ever since the intervention of his partners, friends, and DTI. Looking back, Lord believes he whipped his sweet success because he took risks and welcomed opportunities that helped him as a businessman.

CHILEN

Chilen was established way back in 1984 by Chilo James Delator a native of Buanoy Balamban, Cebu. The name ‘Chilen’ is a combination of Chilo’s and his wife’s name, Helen. Chilen’s line of products are different from the other known chicharon brands, specifically with the introduction of beef and chicken chicharon. During the mid-90’s, he introduced the first bite-size chicharon, flavored chicharon, and the ready-to-cook pellets to the market, shortly followed by other chicharon brands in the locale. Today, Chilen products are distributed to the different groceries and supermarkets in Cebu. They are also distributed to the different key cities all over the Philippines by Chilen authorized dealers.

TWILIGHT DELICACY CENTER

As a nursing graduate in Cebu, finding an occupation of such a career can be very difficult. Even Shaddilyn Esguerra knew that way back in 2016. Instead of being discouraged, she was decisive enough to pursue her family’s four year-old bakery business instead.

After a drastic change in packaging and systems, the quality and quantity of her produce improved exponentially. She was eventually contacted by a big-time client which remains up to this date. Her products, rosquillos, salvaro, galletas, and otap, can now be seen in multiple pasalubong centers and bus terminals across Cebu.

DIERDE EXPORT TRADING

Dierde comes from the truncated German word of “Die Erde”, referring to the Earth–describing the materials we use in production. Our company was founded in October of 2018, inspired by the genius exhibited by a designer and a friend who made use of Philippine materials in her craftsmanship. Dierde specializes in exporting home decors made from wood, rattan, stone, upcycled materials, and more. As of date, they have been exhibiting in numerous trade fairs over the past few years while being consistent in their mission to provide a sense of beauty and harmony in homes and offices.

FERANGELI GUITAR HANDCRAFTER

Ferangeli Guitar was started with a mission to make Cebu-made handcrafted guitars and other string instruments globally competitive, and above all, instruments with the best sound possible the wood can offer. Along the journey, the company has trained numerous local guitar-makers of Lapu-Lapu and Cebu City from their way of making instruments, to catch up with the global standards of instrument making applied by different luthiers across the globe. Now, the company stands proudly as an international exporter of high-end instruments in countries such as California, Spain, Australia, Mexico, and more.

HINABLON SA CEBU

“Hablon” refers to the process of hand-weaving to produce blankets, towels, benolirao, mosquito net materials, sarong, towels and kiriw, a material used in making costumes or dresses.

In 2013, the Cebu Technological University in Argao created a program that addresses the different needs of the local weaving community, including material sourcing, marketing, and product development. Today, the habloneras make use of a wide array of materials ranging from local, indigenous, and even upcycled materials. This paved the way for the Hinablon sa Cebu to penetrate the different sectors of the market, all while empowering Argao’s weaving communities.

JJW FASHION CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. Wagas first worked at Trading Incorporated in 1988 where they were introduced to their business endeavors towards reproduction of native materials. After years of business experimentation, they started to exhibit in the Cebu Trade Hall at SM Cebu which was a keystone in the development of their business.

JJW Fashion Center uses locally sourced materials such as seashells, coco shells, and wood, turning them into products like jewelry boxes, plates, lamps, and many more. With the help of DTI and the demand of both local and foreign market, they began producing other trinkets like necklaces, earrings, key chains, and other fashion accessories.

VER & VER HANDICRAFTS TRADING

Ver & Ver Handicrafts Trading was started by Elena L. Dano in 2000. The original business name was Elda Handicraft, a combination of Elena’s first and last name. Elena started the business when she visited a friend in Punta Engaño, one of the barangays of Lapu-Lapu City, Cebu, which is known as a business center of sea shells. She saw the potential of the sea shells as a home décor but also in the chance to introduce it to the global market.

Ver & Ver sells sea shell specimen and produce quality and exquisitely-designed handicraft made of sea shells. The company supplies products in outlets such as exporters, gift shops, beach resorts, and souvenir shops.

P.P. COFFEE SHOP

PP Coffee started off as a small coffee nook in the town of Talibon, Bohol. With her passion for coffee and the help of her friend who’s a Korean coffee connoisseur, Jackeline decided to put up her own coffee shop. Their signature coffee blend which Jackeline herself has formulated, is now a hit in the town. According to her, the blend is what coffee lovers call a ‘fall city’, it is a brew that is between dark and medium coffee. Now, PP Coffee is currently brewed in many different resorts in Panglao and select coffee shops in Cebu. Starting from a humble town corner, this business eventually grew and showed how passion can drive a person to learn and achieve her way to success.

MARA & ARAM BAGLINES

From a factory handyman to an entrepreneur, Lopido's journey was as adventurous as every other businessman. Back then, his humble task was inverting bags so the sewers could attach the other parts. He now owns a business that banks on raw materials like sinalapid, a raffia pigtail weave overlaid in the design, paired with contrasts and other elements. Lopido's bags also incorporate upcycled materials, buntal, and synthetic fibers. With their big ripples in the bag industry, Mara & Aram Baglines eventually became a must-have item among enthusiasts.

TUBIGON LOOMWEAVERS MULTI-PURPOSE COOPERATIVE

The Tubigon Loom Weaving Industry has been in existence since 1989. The products of the enterprise are inclusive of placemats, raffia rolls, table runners, tea mats, and coasters, all of which are made from buri straps and warped fiber. These raw materials are locally sourced in the country, specifically in the Bohol province. Their placemats and raffia rolls are the most in-demand by the current market of the cooperative. Currently, all of their products are sold to the export market which are then channeled towards international clients and buyers in US, Japan, and even the European Union.

WEAVES ARE US

Weaves Are US is an eight-month old weavers association composed of 30 women members. They create products made of raffia, a type of fiber that comes from buri palms abundant in Bohol. With raffia as their primary source of raw material, they are able to produce bags, mats, leis, curtains, and costumes, among others. Despite being relatively new in the industry, they have already served both local and international customers across the world.

DAEBAK KOREAN FOOD TRADING

Daebak Korean Food Trading started during the late months of 2020 at the peak of the pandemic. The owners began to produce and develop their own Korean Kimchi as a pilot to their business endeavor. Eventually, they started to market their product online which was well-received due to its unique recipe.

Due to its rising demand, Daebak Korean Food Trading banked on the production of their signature ready to eat kimchi, made of korean radish and select spices. DTI and DOST helped the company in their equipment improvement to facilitate their production in a more cost-efficient manner.

NINANG’S KITCHEN

Hazel Asignar used to cook almost anything, including “bagoong” and sell it to her teachers and classmates just to earn money to support herself and her son. Her friends used to call her product “Bagoong ni Hazel”.

More opportunities opened for her as she frequented trade fairs and bazaars in Dumaguete and Bohol. With the help of DTI’s brand equity seminars back in 2017, her sales went up by 500%. Today, Ninang’s Kitchen has become a successful enterprise famous for its food products including their different variants of bagoong, peanut butter, and chili sauce.

TRIBAL MIRACLE OIL SUPPLY

Tribal Miracle Oil Supply started in 2013, when Veronica Maputi chanced upon a person who led her to some indigenous people of the Ata Negritos Tribes in Bais and Mabinay, Negros Oriental.

The Ata Negritos Tribes of Negros Oriental have been using a wonderful healing oil indigenous to them called the “Himag Oil” which healers use to others and to themselves.

Veronica saw an opportunity for this miracle oil, hence the beginning of the company. Today, they offer eleven different products in the field of food supplement, massage oil, cosmetics, and health products, all based on infusion of plants in virgin coconut oil or alcohol.

ZIGMUND ENTERPRISES

Zigmund Enterprises earned a reputation for providing delicious and nutritious fruit concentrates. Despite the challenges they encountered in their earlier years, they were able to uplift themselves thanks to DOST, DTI, and other agencies that helped them revamp their business.

With their current operations, the company is able to produce five tons of product per month, with occasional rises depending on demand. Currently, Zigmund Enterprises is also working to expand their product line by including other fruit concentrates and beverages that are in line with their mission to provide healthy drinks to the community.

ART WORKSHOP HANDICRAFT STORE

Susan Canoy, the artist behind ArtWorks-Shop, started painting way back in 1984. She was constantly inspired by nature and even her family, which led her to create handicrafts, mostly hand painted or hand made.

She flourished in her chosen career, joining exhibits left and right, while trying out different media in virtue of expanding her skillset as an artist. In 2010, her passion for the arts culminated with the founding of ArtWorks-Shop. Today, the brand continues to sell hand painted and hand made products made from sustainable materials.

GARNISH JEWELRY AND ACCESSORIES SHOP

Sabrina Teves started Garnish with her childhood joys: color and handicrafts. She was always motivated to create trinkets for her friends and family, even to the point of selling them as a summer hustle. This was her hobby until she finished high school. After pursuing college, she decided to start her own business beginning with something she loves to do: making accessories.

Garnish is an accessory brand established in 2018. Most of the products are designed and created by Sabrina herself and her helping hands in her bedroom. Her products are mainly sold online via social media platforms and in pop up markets every now and then.

OBRA NI BONG CALLAO

The company started as a hobby based on woodwork. Through the encouragement from friends, they were able to produce more products, leading to the opening of their display shop. Government agencies like DTI also assisted them by providing seminars, equipment and marketing exposure which paved the way for their business to flourish. Soon, they became avid participants in local trade shows and exhibits. With God and family beside them, the company continues to persist in passion and hard work.

SIGUIJOR

ELENA’S BAKERY AND PASALUBONG CENTER

Elena’s Bakery and Pasalubong Center was established way back in 2006 with the help of DOST’s SET-UP Program that paved the way for the improvement of its baking equipment. Elena Ibera eventually joined DTI’s Siquijor Association for Food Entrepreneurs, where she assisted in showcasing her product to a more diverse market via trade shows and regional fairs.

Elena’s specialty delicacy is otap, which is distinct to her own brand for its enormous size plus its crisp and wafer thin texture. Apart from its uniquely big otap, they also sell a variety of pastries including brownies, cupcakes, custom cakes, among others.

NANIE’S DELICACIES

Nanie’s Delicacies was named after the owner Corazon Tingcang’s nickname. At first she just did it as a hobby and sold her products mainly to her neighborhood but due to its increasing demand, she was later able to expand her small business by selling her chips in school canteens and select stores in the locality.

Nanie mainly used the available raw materials in her locality such as bananas, camote, and gabi to produce her best selling products namely her banana chips, gabi chips, and coconut cookies. Despite the challenges she faces being a micro enterprise, she still puts her whole heart and soul into the production of her signature goods.
