Around 51 Micro and Small Entrepreneurs (MSEs) in Negros Oriental will undergo an intensive ten-week mentoring sessions with businessmen to enhance their business skills and improve their respective businesses.

The Department of Trade and Industry (DTI)-Negros Oriental recently launched this year's mentees for its Kapatid Mentor ME (KMME) Program, an initiative of the department in partnership with the Philippine Center for Entrepreneurship (PCE)-Go Negosyo that aims to help MSEs scale up their businesses through weekly coaching with successful entrepreneurs acting as their mentors.

This year, there are 26 mentees from Dumaguete City and 25 mentees from Mabinay town. This is the fifth batch of KMME mentees in Dumaguete City and sixth batch of mentees in Mabinay.

DTI-7 Regional Director Asteria Caberte welcomed this year's mentees during the launching event held June 11 at Bethel Guest House, this city. "This is to address the need for change in the mindset para sa atong micro enterprises na ma-improve ang ilang pagka-negosyante. At the end of ten workshops, ten modules here they will proceed and present to us a business improvement plan. In that presentation, naa mga tagabangko ang among mimbatahon, naa ko diha para mo-critic sa ilang plano aron mahapsay, mahan-ay ilang plano. (This is to address the need for change in the mindset among our micro enterprises and help them enhance their capabilities in handling businesses. At the end of ten workshops or modules, they will proceed and present to us a business improvement plan. We will invite bank representatives and I will be there to critic their plans so they further develop their plan)," Caberte said in a media interview.

"Later on, when they are ready in terms of volume, we can invite them to participate in trade fairs. Aron maka-baligya sila sa ilang produkto. And eventually when they need the working capital, sa ilang negosyo kay nilambo na, wala sila capital we can refer them to banks. (We will help them find a suitable market for their products. Eventually, when they need the working capital for their business, we can refer them to banks)," she added.

The DTI official also noted that this is their first intervention to help MSEs, and later on the department will assist them in terms of product development, labelling, packaging, and food safety tips as most of the KMME mentees this year are involved in food processing. DTI will also help them in processing their regulatory requirements set by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and in securing a certificate of product registration. DTI is bringing top caliber speakers from Manila to discuss the different modules under the KMME Program. These modules are about having an entrepreneurial mindset, marketing, product development, operations management, taxation, accounting, finance, HR management, business development plan, etc. The first two modules were taken up during the launching event.

Negros Oriental Chamber of Commerce and Industry (NOCCI) President Francel Martinez and Joven Chavez, president of the Southern Negros Agri-fisheries Multi-Purpose Cooperative, discussed the entrepreneurial mindset and values formation and also shared their experiences in handling their business. On the other hand, award-winning entrepreneur and best-selling author Ardy Roberto discussed marketing.

Caberte emphasized the importance of attending the weekly modules. "Ang pinaka-importante ang commitment. Dili pwede moabsent mao gyud among number 1 commitment na among gistrikto gyud. Mura na sila nagmasteral. Seryoso. Every module is equally important. (The most important of all is commitment to attend the module. We don't allow absences. That is a requirement we strictly observe here. This is similar to a master's degree. Every module is equally important)," she said. Meanwhile, Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PCCI) Regional Governor for Central Visayas, Ed Du, sees this program as a great help for MSEs. # (Source: Philippine Information agency)

DTI gives BN tellers holidays to push online registration

The Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) has declared June 19, 26, 27 & 28 as a Business Name Teller Holiday to encourage businesses to register online through the Business Name Registration System (BNRS) Next Gen website at <https://bnrs.dti.gov.ph/>.

However, for those who will be dropping by at the DTI office or in any Negosyo Centers, computers will be set up and a staff will teach those registering their business names on how to do it online.

DTI said in a press statement that the BN Teller Holiday is aligned with the Ease of Doing Business Act of 2018 (RA 11032), which promotes zero-contact policy.

And while over-the-counter business registrations did not happen in said dates, DTI cashiers likewise stopped receiving and processing payments. Instead, transactions were paid through GCash.

To further assist the public, DTI-Cebu also initiated a free seminar for bookkeepers and business registration service providers, among others.

Moreover, DTI has set-up a BNRS help desk, which caters to clients from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, at the DTI head office BNR Support. Answers to frequently asked questions on business name registration are also available on the DTI website. #

"PH as an artificial intelligence powerhouse" – Sec. Lopez

Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) Secretary Ramon Lopez discussed with the University of the Philippines School of Economics Alumni Association (UPSEAA) the potential of the Philippines (PH) to become an artificial intelligence (AI) powerhouse.

In his talk last 14 June 2019 on PH's current business climate and industry development initiatives of the Department, the trade chief highlighted the country's abundant human capital, those graduates of science and engineering as well as non-technical.

"We see how AI becomes a great equalizer where our educated, highly skilled, and highly-motivated young population can make their mark. Everyone has a place under this new industrial regime, regardless of educational level, or background, or interest," shared Sec. Lopez to his fellow UPSEAA members headed by President Jeffrey Ng, and composed of accomplished business executives, entrepreneurs, and economists.

DTI noted various applications for AI can be used in agriculture, healthcare, finance, retail, transport, and smart cities. AI software revenue by industry is expected to reach more than USD 100 billion by 2025 while global AI business value is projected to reach USD 5.8 trillion by 2022.

The Secretary also shared the working framework for the formulation of PH AI Strategy. "As we visualize this, we will obtain support from various stakeholders from national, regional, and local champions from schools and universities across the country as well as from industry giants," Sec. Lopez added.

Likewise, the trade chief shared the highlights and key elements of inclusive, innovation-led, industrial strategy (i3S), which aims at growing innovative and globally competitive manufacturing, agriculture, and services while strengthening their linkages into domestic and global value chains. PH government connects stakeholders and integrate the country's innovation and entrepreneurship ecosystem through the Regional Inclusive Innovation Centers (RIICs) present in different parts of the country.

"President Rodrigo Duterte's vision is for the country to have creative and connected communities where innovators, start-ups, MSMEs, and large enterprises can collaborate to produce new products and services. Working together can help us achieve our goal of generating inclusive growth and shared prosperity for all, most especially for those at the bottom of the pyramid," shared Sec. Lopez.

The trade chief also provided updates on trade negotiations, export promotion, MSME development, consumer protection, as well as ease of doing business. He also shared various economic and policy reforms pushed by the administration that will boost foreign investments and promote job generation. (source: dti.gov.ph)
