The Northern Luzon Federation of Cooperatives and Development Center (NORLU CEDEC) has evolved from a provincial federation union of cooperatives organized by the Montañosa Diocesan Social Action Center (MDSAC) in 1960s. Now MDSAC is called the Baguio-Benguet Diocesan Action Center (BBDSAC).

NORLU CEDEC was organized by primary cooperatives in Northern Luzon which are initiated mostly by religious groups with different denominations purposely to address the expressed compelling needs like capacity, capability building and even financial intermediation services. However, the provision of the services/programs has undergone processes.

To date, 158 cooperative affiliates spread all over Cordillera Administrative Region, Ilocos, Cagayan Valley, Central Luzon and National Capital Regions with multi-purpose type of cooperatives dominated the membership.

NORLU CEDEC has gained its financial independence as early as 1981. This means that NORLU CEDEC depend its survival from its business operation.

BDS programs and services offered:

- Training and Consultancy. This address the human resources development through on-site and regional training focused on skills development with professionalization of various key personnel of cooperative as well as leaders. Training are tailored or customize to the felt-need of a particular cooperative. NORLU CEDEC is actively involved in the Cooperative Education Forum to upgrade the coop education curriculum and to come up with an accreditation body for cooperative training and education.
- Cooperative Auditing. This is to provide annual external or independent audit to the primary cooperatives for management and financial audit. NORLU CEDEC is actively involved with the Cooperative Education Forum (CEF) in developing the Social Audit for cooperatives.

- Central Fund. This serves as the intermediary financial arm of cooperatives among its affiliates. NORLU CEDEC pools the funds of cooperatives that are very liquid either as equity or deposit liabilities and packages these funds into credit facilities. These credit facilities are available to affiliates in various loan windows with a reasonable margin. This is somewhat a “credit union of cooperatives”. This started since 1984 with 21 cooperatives joining this initiative and has increased to 130 primary cooperatives as of December 31, 2009.
- Pension House. NORLU CEDEC is offering the pension facility like the two (2) function halls (Cooperation Hall and Angelo King Hall) with maximum capacity of 100 and 50, respectively. Accommodation Rooms are available for single, twin sharing, triple sharing, quadruple and dormitory type of occupancy. It is available for any kind of gathering-seminar, conference, meetings and even re-union. Catering can also be arranged with management. Founded in 1929, the Nueva Ecija University of Science and Technology (NEUST), formerly known as Central Luzon Polytechnic College, is a publicly-funded university located in the Cabanatuan City, Nueva Ecija, Philippines. The university offers graduate and undergraduate courses in many specialized fields as well as vocational training programs.

NEUST started as the Nueva Ecija Trade School (NETS) in San Isidro, Nueva Ecija on June 7, 1929, offering vocational opportunities to the youth of the province. The only course offered was woodworking in addition to the existing secondary curriculum that was inherited from the Wright Institute.

To meet the increasing demand for vocational education in the whole province, the trade school was transferred to Cabanatuan City on June 7, 1931. Enrolment increased; however, the program was interrupted by the Second World War which broke up in the Pacific in December 1941.

Immediately after the war, the trade school was reopened on September 6, 1945. A rehabilitation program took place. The trade school continued its mission to meet the vocational and manpower needs of students coming from Nueva Ecija and the nearby provinces. On June 8, 1948, a course in dressmaking was opened and female students were admitted. A few years later, food trades and cosmetology courses were offered.

On May 8, 1953, the NETS was converted into the Central Luzon School of Arts and Trades (CLSAT) by virtue of Republic Act No. 845. CLSAT was recognized as a center of manpower/vocational training for both youth and adults not only in the province but also in the whole Region III.

The series of development continued until the CLSAT was converted into the Central Luzon Polytechnic College (CLPC) by virtue of Republic Act No. 3998 signed on June 18, 1964 by President Diosdado Macapagal.

The College was converted into Nueva Ecija University of Science and Technology (NEUST) on March 27, 1998 by virtue of Republic Act No. 8612.

The expansion of NEUST is evident not only in terms of program offerings, number of enrollees and land acquisitions, but also in terms of linkages with both local and international entities. As part of the expansion, the University has brought its graduate and undergraduate programs in China and has also hosted the South Korea's Master of Science in Information Technology, which is presently being offered at NEUST by the Han Nam University. Still expanding, NEUST hopes to soon be at the peak of development and excellence.
