The EMB, formerly Bureau of Export Trade Promotion (BETP), the export marketing agency under the DTI Industry Promotions Group (DTI-IPG) is the lead agency tasked to develop, promote, and expand export trade. The EMB seeks to enable Philippine exporters to compete with world-class products and services. To ensure that the Bureau’s mandate is implemented, EMB provides the following services to its internal and external clients:

Frontline Services. The EMB team of customer relations officers handles all export related inquiries and provides immediate assistance to existing and potential exporters, and walk-in clients.

Export Assistance and Business Matching Service. EMB receives direct inquiries from international importers and overseas Philippine Embassies and Foreign Trade posts that are matched with legitimate Philippine exporters. EMB likewise provides assistance on export procedures, documentation and mediation of trade-related complaints and accreditation of exporters.

Specialized Consultancy Services. EMB conducts proactive research on export and potential export industries, value-enhanced and culture-enhanced products and services to provide relevant consultancy to exporters on market opportunities, challenges in international trade and related regulations. EMB’s Export Counselors help in the formulation and implementation of export promotion plan for various industries.

Business Missions Facilitation Services. EMB organizes Outbound Business Missions (OBMs) to key export markets and facilitates Inbound Business Missions (IBMs) to accommodate foreign buyers looking for exporters to cater to their needs and to generate sales transactions for Philippine companies.

To level up exports of merchandise and services, EMB embarked on the following major programs for the exporting industry:

Doing Business in Free Trade Area (DBFTA). The Bureau conducts massive information sessions on the country’s current FTA engagements designed to promote the country’s productive business environment and encourage foreign trade and investment in the country.

Regional Interactive Platform for Philippine Exporters (RIPPLES). A joint program of EMB with the Philippine Trade Training Center (PTTC) and DTI Regional Operations Group (DTI-ROG) under its Export Pathways Program (EPP) which provides technical assistance and handholding of potential exporters through capacity-building trainings and direct interventions (e.g. product designs, market information sessions, export marketing activities, etc.) to RIPPLES–EPP enrollees.

Philippine Export Competitiveness Program (PECP). Through the PECP, EMB seeks to boost the export competitiveness of our local manufacturers and service providers through seminars, information sessions, and activities providing insights on productivity, innovation, and updates on export trade.
HOW TO USE THE DIRECTORY

The Directory of Philippine Exporters is an updated compilation of exporters’ data in the form of creative promotional collateral that covers the Philippines’ key export sectors on products and services. It highlights priority merchandise exports like electronics, food, garments, furniture, fashion accessories, and other consumer goods. Likewise, it features services providers of top Philippine services exports in the fields of animation, game development, healthcare information management, IT services, and other services including construction and related engineering services, audiovisual, and education, among others. Primarily, this publication aims to:

1. Present the country’s supply chain capability across tradable sectors;
2. Offer the country to the international trading community as a reliable globally competitive supplier and provider of goods and services; and,
3. List down exporting companies ascertained to be sustainable, with credible juridical personalities, and capacities across sectors highlighted as priority industries.

Users of this directory will have access to the contact information (updated as of October 2014) of small-and-medium enterprises (SMEs), large companies, and industries classified per sector and arranged alphabetically. Users can easily locate product lines and specific service offerings of each company.

Feature of the Directory

- The directory has two major sections - the products and services sections.
- Each major section is comprised of company listing for priority exports featured separately by specially designed breakers with corresponding technical write-up highlighting each sector. The exporters for Other Products and Other Services can be found after each major section listed alphabetically per sub-sector.
- Company listing for priority exports and other products and services contain details of market-compliant exporting companies based in the Philippines which may or may not be wholly owned by Philippine nationals and whose legal personalities are recognized under Philippine laws.
- Contact details of industry associations and other business support organizations for products and services exporters are also listed after each major section.
- All sector breaker headings, sub-category titles, and company listing are arranged in alphabetical order.
My heartfelt greetings to exporters, industry stakeholders and the dedicated team of the Export Marketing Bureau, formerly Bureau of Export Trade Promotions (BETP), for the successful publication of the 2014 Exporters Directory. This publication proudly showcases Philippine exports to the world and is reflective of the Bureau’s responsiveness to the needs of the global market.

The Export Marketing Bureau (EMB), with its strengthened base of knowledge, has become a major driving force for the growth of Philippine exports through the years. Through its capacity-building programs, workshops and massive information sessions dealing with issues and concerns relating to exports, local businesses can foresee limitless export opportunities through the Doing Business in Free Trade Areas (DBFTA) sessions on our current FTA engagements. On the other hand, capacity-building and productivity of exporters were enhanced through EMB’s Philippine Export Competitiveness Program (PECP) and its Regional Interactive Platform for Philippine Exporters (RIPPLES).
I encourage the companies and business support organizations who contributed to the completion of the 2014 Exporters Directory to continuously work with the Export Marketing Bureau to bring its training and information gathering efforts on a national scale to enhance further its database and service offerings.

Mabuhay!

Ponciano C. Manalo Jr.
Undersecretary
Faithful to its vision of being the country’s top-of-mind lead export trade promotion agency of the Department of Trade and Industry, the Export Marketing Bureau (EMB), formerly the Bureau of Export Trade Promotion, published this edition of the 2014 Exporters Directory. Over the years, we strategically provided developmental and promotional services that enable established exporters and would-be exporters of goods and services in the country to meet the demands of the highly competitive global environment.

The EMB is determined in driving the growth of Philippine exports, hence this initiative. We make sure that our compilation of profiled export companies maintains relevant and up-to-date information to support industry players for the effective conduct of one-on-one business matching for both inbound and outbound trade missions.

In keeping with our commitment to bring Philippine products and services at the forefront of international market, we at EMB dedicate ourselves to the task of continuously enhancing our base of knowledge about Philippine exports which includes identifying existing and potential companies that can offer and supply world-class goods and services to foreign markets.

As Bureau Director, I am truly pleased that our organization can offer our industry partners, our foreign buyers, and our stakeholders in the Philippine exporting community, the 2014 Exporters Directory. This useful reference material moves us towards becoming a stronger exporting nation. I would like to commend the dedication and hard work of the team responsible for the directory’s creative new look, and the continued cooperation and support of our exporters in making this possible.

Chemicals and Chemical Products

With a registered revenue of PhP330 billion in 2012 and growing at an average of 7% per annum, the country’s chemical industry is the third largest sector in the Philippines’ manufacturing industry and approximately accounts for 6.7% of the Philippine GDP. While chemical trade growth in imports posted at 8.15% over a five-year period, export is rapidly growing at 33.11%.

Companies are engaged in the manufacture and trade of chemicals and chemical products. Chemicals that are locally produced for exports are oleochemicals, activated carbon, petrochemicals, manufactured fertilizers, adhesives and sealants, coatings, inorganic chemicals, and plastic articles for packaging and industrial applications. About 90% of the industry, which is composed of a total of 1,400 companies that include top global firms and local chemical producers, are SMEs.

Export Average Growth
- 33.11% export average growth rate from 2009 to 2013

Export Value
- US$2.85 billion Export value in 2013

Employment
- 144,000 direct employment in 2013

Number of Companies
- 1,400 registered chemical firms in 2013
Activated Carbon is a form of carbon processed to have small, low-volume pores that increase the surface area available for adsorption and chemical reactions. This is often used for medical purposes, environmental applications, gas and chemical purification, and sound absorption.

Oleochemicals is derived from plant and animal fats. It was used in 1970s as an alternative for petrochemicals for its cheaper value. The most common usage for oleochemicals is biodiesel production.
Petrochemicals are chemical products derived from petroleum. The two most common classes of these chemicals are olefins and aromatics. Olefins are important sources of industrial chemicals, plastic products, and synthetic rubber. Aromatics are raw materials for dyes and synthetic detergents.
Plastic Resin is made through the “cracking process.” This process breaks down larger molecules to produce hydrocarbons that will form polymers to create plastic resins. This product is used to make soft drink bottles, waste containers, milk jugs, vitamin bottles, and film containers.
Adhesives are substances applied to surfaces of materials that binds them together and resists separation. These may be applied through brushes, rollers, films or pellets, spray guns, and applicators.

Coconut Products

Coconut-based products have displayed a solid global export growth in five years. The industry has registered a high earning for the agricultural commodities with $2.016 billion. This growth attests to the rising global demand for healthier food alternatives and eco-friendly products.

Major traditional coconut products include copra, copra meal, coconut oil, desiccated coconut, coconut shell charcoal, activated carbon, and oleochemicals. The Philippines is the leading supplier of coconut oil in the global market as its export growth is 133% from 2009 to 2013.

There are also non-traditional coconut products like coco chemicals and coconut food and non-food products. Coconut food products exported include fresh coconuts, grated coco meat, coco flour, nata de coco, coconut water, coconut milk powder, liquid coconut milk, makapuno, frozen coco meat, coconut chips, and coco jam. Coconut water has achieved an export growth of 21% from 2009 to 2013. It is the top coconut food export for 2013 followed by coco flour and nata de coco. The United States, Australia, the Netherlands, and Singapore are the top buyers for coconut water. The United States, Korea and Australia are the major importers of coco flour while Japan, Hong Kong, and the United States are the major destinations of nata de coco.

The country also exports coconut non-food coconut products to major markets. It exports coco shell powder, virgin coconut oil, hydrogenated coconut oils, coco handicrafts, and coco coir. These products registered an export growth of 2,034% from 2009 to 2013. Major export destinations for coco coir are China, Korea and Japan. Canada and the United States are the major importing markets of virgin coconut oil from our country.

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH

- 128% export growth for coconut products from 2009 to 2013
- 120% export growth for traditional coconut products from 2009-2013
- 235% export growth for non-traditional coconut products from 2009-2013

Coconut industry is one of the major sources of employment generation

- 3.65 million hectares of our land are dedicated to coconut
- 68 out of 79 provinces are coconut areas
- 340 million coconut-bearing trees
- 15.31 billion average nuts yield per year
- 59% of total nut production comes from Mindanao

The electronics industry of the Philippines plays a pivotal role in the development of the economy. It is one of the country’s main sources of export revenues and domestic employment.

The double-digit growth of merchandise exports for the period January to March 2014 when compared to the same period in 2013 is attributed to the impressive recovery of exports of electronics products, in particular the subgroups of electronic data processing and communication/radar. Other subgroups that enjoyed significant growths are: office equipment, consumer electronics, control and instrumentation, medical/industrial instrumentation. Other subgroups are: telecommunications, automotive electronics, and components or devices (semiconductors).

As a top dollar earner of the country, the Electronics Industry has an impressive export performance that offers lucrative trade and investment opportunities. The Philippines has a highly trained yet inexpensive labor, a geographic location and government incentives hospitable to international trade, including the establishment of export processing zones.

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH
- 5.80% export average growth rate from 2009 to 2013
- US$23.92 billion Export value in 2013

EMPLOYMENT
- 280,636 direct employment generated by registered electronics companies as of March 2014.

NUMBER OF COMPANIES
- 447 registered electronics companies (March 2014), majority of which are Japanese, Korean and American firms.
Consumer Electronics

are electronic equipment aimed for everyday use, usually in entertainment, communications, and office productivity. Products from this sector include computers, television, and digital cameras.

Food and Food Preparations

Fresh food remains in demand among Philippine food products for export. Fresh fruits like bananas, pineapples, mango, and papaya and fresh vegetables like okra and asparagus were the best sellers from this subsector. Philippine fresh food exports posted an export growth of 37.83%. Major markets for this subsector include Thailand, Malaysia, South Korea, Japan, and the United States.

A significant share of the food products category also came from the processed food, which posted an export growth of 6.41% from 2013. This subsector includes subgroups such as processed fruits (dried, preserved and prepared fruits, juices, purees and concentrates); coconut products (coconut water and juice, desiccated and dried coconut, coco sugar, coconut cream and milk); beverages (alcoholic and non-alcoholic), cereal preparations (biscuits, snack foods, noodles), coffee (ground and whole beans); sugar (refined, muscovado); meat products (Halal); condiments and sauces; and dairy products. Major markets for this subsector include Thailand, Malaysia, South Korea, Japan, and the United States. Marine products, which have also posted an increase in exports by as much as 52.32% last year, include tuna, milkfish, grouper, sea cucumber, octopus, cuttlefish, abalone, crustaceans, and mollusks which are available, fresh, frozen, smoked, canned, and preserved. Marine products have been in demand in countries like the United Kingdom, Germany, Hong Kong, Japan, and the United States.

According to the Philippine Institute for Development Studies, a total of 5.9 million farmers and farm holders benefited from the banana industry; 2.5 million farmers and family members were covered by fresh mango industry; and 420,000 million farmers were supported the pineapple industry. Based on the annual survey National Statistics Office (NSO), there are 125,674 people covered by the Philippine agriculture and forestry.

There are a total of 11,601 food processors nationwide, 95% are considered sole proprietorship and mainly small to medium and large food establishments; 5% belong to partnerships or subsidiaries of foreign multinational medium and large companies. These processors come from different subgroups: processed fruits and vegetables, beverages, confectionary, biscuits and snack foods, condiments and sauces, dairy, meat products, coconut products, cocoa and tea, and fish and marine products.

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH

- US$3.91 billion worth of Philippine food products exported in 2013, with an average growth of 17.94%
- US$1.14 billion worth of fresh food (fruits and vegetables) exported in 2013
- US$1.53 billion worth of processed food exported in 2013
- US$1.22 billion worth of marine products exported in 2013
- 28.5% average growth of Philippine export of fresh bananas from 2009 to 2013
- 33.4% average growth of Philippine export of fresh pineapple from 2009 to 2013
Fresh Food

Bananas are prominently featured in Philippine cuisine with the Cardaba and Saba cultivars. They are part of traditional dishes like maruya, turron, halo-halo, and saba con yelo.

Home Style

Philippine furniture, houseware, and holiday décor enjoy a premium spot in the world market. Over the last five years, this industry has enjoyed steady growth in its export value, which attests to the quality design and craftsmanship of the products and the growing number of local manufacturers that responds to the demand.

Philippine furniture manufacturers rank among the world’s best producers of fine furniture, from the traditional to the casual contemporary to the highly experimental. We are a major source of rattan and wicker furniture and have successfully expanded to wood, metal (wrought iron and aluminum, primarily), stone, bamboo, leather, plastic, and mixed media furniture collections. Known for their painstaking attention to detail, our artisans have expertise in handmade work (wood carving and weaving), antique reproductions, and hand finishing.

Houseware items, which range from the basic to the intricately designed, use different varieties of indigenous raw materials as primary component. These are abaca, rattan (cane), bamboo, buri midrib, wicker (from palm trees), vine species, and others. Majority of the products are handcrafted. They include tableware and kitchenware, stoneware, wood ware, basketworks, shell-craft, artificial flowers, and statuettes. These home accents range from the items for the low and mid-range to high-end markets, and also range from decorative to functional both for indoor and outdoor use.

The holiday décor is a small but thriving sector that enjoys advantages over its competitors. The Philippines’ wide variety of indigenous plants and natural materials coupled with the ingenuity and superior capability of local craftsmen have led to a strong tradition of creativity in this sector.

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH
- 14.88% export average growth rate for furniture and furnishing from 2009 to 2013
- 17.70% export average growth rate for holiday décor from 2009 to 2013
- 10.95% export average growth rate for house ware from 2009 to 2013

EMPLOYMENT
- 2.52 million jobs generated

NUMBER OF COMPANIES
- 2,600 registered manufacturers

Minerals and Mineral Products

Situated along the Circum-Pacific Ring of Fire, the Philippines is blessed with rich deposits of both metallic and non-metallic minerals. These include gold, silver, copper, nickel, and chromite (metallic). Non-metals include sand, limestone, marble, and perlite, among others.

Top minerals and mineral products exported in 2013 include nickel ore, copper cathodes, copper ores, copper concentrates, and gold bullion.

Major Markets of Philippine minerals and mineral products in 2013 were China, Japan, South Korea, Switzerland, and the United States.

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH
- 25% export growth rate for minerals and mineral products (metallic and non-metallic) from 2009 to 2013

EMPLOYMENT
- 250,000 employment generated for 2013

Seaweeds & Carrageenan

The Philippines is one of the top exporters of raw dried and processed seaweeds (carrageenan) in the world. It caters to major markets like the United States, Spain, Austria, Belgium, Mexico, Denmark, Thailand, Brazil, China, and Australia.

The seaweed industry in the Philippines started in the 1960s as a small-grower industry that provided livelihood in the coastal areas. Today, the aqua farms that culture seaweeds in the country have increased to 34,190, which generate an estimate of 170,950 jobs. Each aqua farm is managed by a family.

Among the commercial species of seaweed produced in the Philippines include red seaweeds: Eucheuma cottonii and E. spinosum (for carrageenan) and Gracillaria and Gelidium (for agar-agar).

The development of the carrageenan industry started in Cebu, where they established a semi-refined carrageenan processing facility for pet food in 1978. After constant research and development, the first refined carrageenan processing facility was launched in 1986.

Carrageenan is a fine powder with hydrocolloid properties obtained from either Eucheuma cottonii or E. spinosum. This product is used for processed meat, dairy products, frozen desserts, pet food, personal care products, air freshener gels, soft gel capsules, and microbicides for HIV/AIDS prevention, among others.

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH
- 24.70% export growth rate for seaweeds and carrageenan combined from 2009 to 2013

EMPLOYMENT
- 170,950 jobs created
Seaweed is a marine algae that lives near the seabed. It is exported for food, medicine, and as fertilizer. Carrageenan is used in making industrial products like paper coatings, dyes, gels, and adhesives.

Wearables

Clothing, footwear, jewelry, and leather accessories comprise the wearable-product category, which has been posting significant growth in export values worldwide. The Philippine apparel manufacturing industry has evolved in response to the growing demand, from a cottage industry to one that boasts of a large, highly skilled workforce prized for its embroidery and other intricate design capabilities that have been passed down through generations, such as traditional hand-weaving of indigenous fibers, making the subgroup competitive at the mid- to high-end market tier.

The Philippines also enjoys the advantage of handmade creations in the jewelry subgroup and internationally trained designers. In particular, the fine jewelry sector is a focus area in the Philippine Development Plan as a high-potential industry given the country’s talent and in design. The country also has a strong supplier base for mid- and high-end leather goods such as bags and suitcases, belts, gloves, and a diverse range of footwear (leather, non-leather, sports, special use, slippers and sandals, and footwear parts).

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH
- 9.05% export average growth rate for garments from 2009 to 2013
- 16.5% export average growth rate for footwear from 2009 to 2013
- 24.33% export average growth rate for leather goods from 2009 to 2013
- 36.17% export average growth rate for costume jewelry from 2009 to 2013
- 15.50 % export average growth rate for fine jewelry from 2009 to 2013

EMPLOYMENT
- More than 300,000 jobs generated

NUMBER OF COMPANIES
- Almost 4,000 registered manufacturers

Services
Animation

Animation is one of the major outsourcing services being offered by the Philippines to the international market, and the country is among the preferred outsourcing partners of big international production firms.

Filipino animators are known for their creative talent, English proficiency, ability to produce quality animated productions, fast output delivery, relatively lower cost of services, and inherent ability to comprehend concepts and story lines due to their exposure to various cultures through media. Because of these, Filipino animators have been tapped in the creation of world-famous cartoon series and animated films like Dragon Ball Z, Scooby Doo, Tom and Jerry, Addams Family, The Mask, The Jetsons, Captain Planet, Finding Nemo, and The Incredibles.

The Philippine animation industry provides a wide range of services, which include 2D and 3D animation—including pre and post production services such as lay-outing, in-betweening, clean-up, digital background through scanning and pre-compositing, color styling, special effects creation, digital ink and paint application, flash animation and web design, graphic and art design, mobile applications, 3D gaming both for consoles and PC platforms, interactive games and e-Learning modules that require animation and animation training.

Philippine animation has currently evolved from being an outsourcing industry to a creator of original Filipino content. Major Philippine stakeholders have produced animated films and TV productions, which are now being promoted to indentified key markets.

EMPLOYMENT:
- 9,200 employees worked in animation studios in 2013

EARNINGS:
- US $ 132 million revenues earned in 2013
Animation is the process of generating motion and shape change through a rapid display of a sequence of static images that differs minimally from each other.

Services Offerings: 3D animation and audiovisual presentation, architectural visualization using 3D Animation, Animation and film, graphics design and advertisements, interactive media, virtual interactive tours, visual FX, web development and programming, web-enabled services
3D animation is digitally modelled and manipulated by an animator. The animator starts to create 3D animation through a 3D polygon mesh. A mesh contains vertices that are connected by edges and faces for visual appearance to a 3D object.
2D animation figures are generated and edited on the computer using the 2D bitmap, which includes automated computerized versions of traditional animation techniques. 2D animations are used in analog computer animation, flash animation, and PowerPoint animation.

Game development is one of the outsourcing services being provided by the Philippines. Foreign clients always tap the Philippines for game development projects because of the country’s pool of competitive game developers and artists who can deliver the quality that clients need at relatively lower labor costs.

The Filipinos’ knowledge of and affinity to both Eastern and Western cultures is also a competitive advantage because it allows us to conceptualize the game requirements for both markets. The game developers offer a variety of services like end-to-end game development, concept art design, character generation and design, in-game animation, advergaming, localization, game community support, game testing, and quality control.

Game development creates interactive games for PC, mobile, video, online, and other new media platforms. These games are used for entertainment purposes, advertising, infotainment, and other multimedia applications.

At present, the Philippine game development sector is leveling up as it is now exploring the creation, production, and publication of original Filipino game content that can be marketed to the global market.

Healthcare Information Management

Healthcare information management is the practice of acquiring digital and traditional medical information, protecting, and analyzing them to provide quality patient care. The healthcare business process management service in the Philippines has been considered as a “hidden gem” according to the 2013 Everest Report. It is the fastest growing sector in the IT-BPM industry with a compound growth rate of 21.4% and a projected workforce growth rate of 35% from 2010 to 2016.

The country has an estimate of 150 health information companies that offer their service to global markets like the United States and Europe. The services they offer include clinical coding, medical transcription, disease management, revenue cycle management, and pharmaceutical benefits management.

EXPORT AVERAGE GROWTH
- 21.4% compound growth rate from 2009 to 2013

EMPLOYMENT

(Software Development and Other IT-Related Activities)

The United States continues to be the largest export destination, which has a substantial 53.65% share of the sector’s total exports in 2012. Other major export markets exporting from our country are Japan with 28.83% share, Europe with 9.81% share, and Australia-New Zealand with 3.67% share.

The Philippine software companies have been providing Information Technology Services in the global market for more than 20 years, which especially thrived in 2007, and saw the rise of nearly 400-600 software companies with niche expertise in various technology areas. The software developers have skills set that range from the most current and widely-used technologies but not limited to C#, VB, .NET, Ruby, C/C++, SQL, DBA Embedded Mobile and Wireless systems to legacy and mid-ware languages such as COBOL and RPG/400. Current offerings also include software products and services such as cloud applications/ software-as-a-service (SaaS), enterprise software, SAP, mobile computing, etc.

The software development industry is one of the major services under the Philippine Information Technology services, which also includes custom application development, application maintenance, smartphone application development, software testing/QA package implementation, network monitoring/operation, embedded systems/software development, system infrastructure support service, product engineering/software product development, systems integration (SI), software support services, data center operation, software quality, outsourcing, and website development.

The software development sector is expected to continuously increase the number of employed individuals in 2015.
